

Rowan Tepper

Michel Foucault: Toward a Philosophy and Politics of the Event

Continuity in Discontinuity

LAP LAMBERT Academic Publishing

Contents

I. Acknowledgments	2
ii. Introduction	3

Part One

Chapter 1. The Structure of Archaeology	6
I. The Problem of the Historical a priori	6
II. The episteme - The paradox and the Completed Diagram	15
III. The Question of the Transcendental	21
Chapter 2. Genealogy and the Event	23
I. Genealogy	28
II. Toward the Event	35
III. Archaeological Events	46
Chapter 3. Force, Power-Knowledge and Discourse	48
I. Force and Power – Discourse and Apparatus	48
II. Truth	54
III. The Status of Apparatus... Micro-physics	57
Conclusion to Part One	64

Part Two

Chapter 4. Successive Hypotheses for Change and Resistance	67
I. Hypotheses	68
II. Archaeological Change	70
III. Genealogical Re-appropriation	71
IV. Resistance and Revolution	75
Chapter 5. Bio-Power	77
I. Bio-Power and Governmentality: Apparatus of Ensnarement	78
II. The Impasse – Paradoxes	83
III. The Line of Flight	85
Conclusion	88

Appendices

Appendix A: The Nietzschean Hypothesis	90
Appendix B: Biopolitics: Problems and Discussion	93
Appendix C: Phenomenology, Historical a priori and the Unconscious	95
Appendix D: The Influence of Georges Bataille	102
Reference Matter	111