

MAPPING AND POLITICS IN THE DIGITAL AGE

Edited by Pol Bargaés-Pedreny, David Chandler and Elena Simon

 Routledge
Taylor & Francis Group
LONDON AND NEW YORK

Centre for Global Cooperation Research

SPONSORED BY THE

Federal Ministry of Education and Research

CONTENTS

List of figures	ix
List of contributors	x
Acknowledgments	xiv
Mapping and politics in the digital age: An introduction Pol Bargués-Pedreny, David Chandler and Elena Simon	1
PART I
Contestations	20
1 On the epistemology of maps and mapping: De la Cosa, Mercator and the making of spatial imaginaries Luis Lobo-Guerrero	20
2 From the cartographic gaze to contestatory cartographies Doug Specht and Anna Feigenbaum	39
3 Horizontalism is a map Nicholas Michelsen	56
4 (Analog) mapping the knowable and ways of knowing: Relational ontologies of chickens and ancestors in rural Sierra Leone Caitlin Ryan	72

PART II
Governance		87
5 Mapping epidemics: Securitisation, risk and geopolitics		87
Adam Ferhani and Gregory Stiles
6 About ‘terms and conditions’: The Aadhar biometric identification programme as a mapping analytic		102
Harshavardhan Bhat
7 Mapping as governance in an age of autonomic computing: Technology, virtuality and utopia		118
Antoinette Rouvroy
8 Mapping without the world and the poverty of digital humanitarians		135
Pol Bargaés-Pedreny
PART III
Imaginaries		149
9 Post(mortem) cartographies: Reframing the cartographic exhaustion in the age of mapping’s excess		149
Laura Lo Presti
10 Mapping beyond the human: Correlation and the governance of effects		167
David Chandler
11 Map-i: Mercator revisited: From mapping modernity to postmodern creative cartographies		185
Inge Panneels
12 Mapping’s intelligent agents		208
Shannon Mattern
Index		225